INDUSTRY IS ON UP GRADE

Department of Labor Sees Bright Future for Business

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — Despite the coal and rail strikes, there is a strong undercurrent throughout the country in the direction of industrial recovery, the department of labor announced in an analysis of business conditions for the month ending July 31. An animality on prevale the 31. An optimistic opinion prevals, the statement added, that with the set-tlement of the two major contraversies the country will experience a rapid advance in industrial prosperity.

Evidence to support this opinion, the department said, was found in decided increases of employment in tentor fourteen basis industries. The iron and steel industry in some sections has suffered through inadequate fuel supply, it was said, though employment registered material increases.

LESS UNEMPLOYMENT.

A more substantial increase was said to have been shown in other metais and meial products, but the most encouraging increase was found in the leather industry Decreases of employment in liquor and beverage plants and tebacco industry were said to PEKING, Aug. 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Chuna's parliament. resuming today the sittings bogun August 1. after a lapse of nearly five years due to international disorders, faced strong representations for the adoption of a constitution as speedily as may be. Li Yuan-Hung, president, and Wu Pel-Fu, the man whose military successes payed the way for Li's resumption of the office, when he was ousted in 1917, both have gone on record as favoring an organic law patterned after that of the United States. General Wu, however, in an appeal issued Monday and directed to the members of parliament by implication, made a strong appeal for speed in the work even at the expense of adopting some form of organic law less in keeping with his ideal. Of three matters which he averred were essential to the country's welfare. General Fu placed adoption of a constitution first, for," he said 'even a bad constitution is better than none, for then the people have something to follow."

A NEW PREMIER

Besides the problems China's leaders must grapple with the question of a new premier. President Li's first offer of this place, to Dr. Wu Ting-Fang, having been nullified by Wu's death, he offered the post on August 5, to Tang Shoa Yi, a prominent south China leader. Tang's elevation to the premiership was one of the conditions Li made pre-requisite to his return to office, but apparently gave up the matter at that time. The move is a frank one to align south China sentiment with his administration.

The theory that the motive for the crime might have been robbery was eliminated due to the fact that witnesses saw the assallant run from the scene of the tragedy as soon as the shot was fired. At police head-quarters a small sum of money, a match and a bunch of keys were found on the person of the murdered man. Neither were there any indications which would indicate that the pockets of the victim had been rified. Mr. Keysor was born in Sait Lake City in 1858.
